

Achieve a multiline statement with operators without the semicolon inferer getting it wrong.

Explain the rules of semicolon inference.

Where do Java static methods go in Scala?

What are three reasons why the `Application` trait is bad?

Describe the compile daemon.

What do companion object and class have access to?

What is automatically imported into every Scala program?

What can a singleton not do?

What is a singleton object without a companion class called?

When does a method have a side effect?

What is a companion object?

When is a file a script?

What kind of variable are parameters?

Singleton objects have the initialization semantics of what in Java?

What in Scala is similar to Java's void return type?

What is the default visibility level in Scala?

What is the program entry point?

Describe a good caching data structure.

What happens if you leave off `=` before the function body?