

Where can you leave the parens off a tuple?

Give the two forms of the type of function that takes two Ints and returns a String.

What are the advantages of case classes over extractors for pattern matching?

What does representation independence allow?

How do case classes break representation independence?

To be an extractor you need ___, but ___ is optional.

What does an extractor with two or more variables return?

Why are injections and extractions often paired together?

What does an extractor with one variable return?

What does an extractor with no variables return?

Describe an extractor with a variable number of variables.

What are the two main purposes of extractors?

Describe regex extraction.

What is the consequence of breaking representational independence?