

What's the difference between an argument
and an operand?