

How can you skip the staging area?

How can you view your changes as you commit?

How can you view staged changes from your last commit?

How can you view unstaged changes from your last commit?

How can you tell Git to ignore certain files?

"Changed but not updated" files are in which stage?

"Changes to be committed" are in which Git stage?

How do you begin tracking a new file?

How can you find which branch you're in?

How can you check for untracked files?

How do you check if any of your tracked files have been modified?

How do you get a copy of an existing Git repository?

How do you start version-controlling files?

How do you initialize a repository in an existing directory?

What is a bare repository?

Which protocol does Git assume if you don't specify?

How do you create a bare repository?

Using ssh, what controls read/write access to the repo?

How can you guarantee others will have permission to push to your bare repository.

How can you give devs access to a repo with ssh if they don't have accounts on the machine?

Give a script to set up a Git repo on a server.

Give a script to move code to a new repo on a server.

How can you restrict the git user to Git use only?

How can you provide read-only public access to your otherwise ssh-based repo?

How can you provide a web interface to your repo?

Name a tool for managing large numbers of entries in `authorized_keys`.

Name a tool for providing access controls over branches, tags, etc.?

How can you avoid committing whitespace?

How do you normalize line endings?

How do you insist Git check SHA-1 consistency on every push?