In Perl, all numbers are what?

How large are they?

What readability feature is provided for long number literals?

Using $$ for exponentiation comes from what language?

Describe single-quoted string syntax..

Describe double-quoted string syntax.

What does perl do with strings that don't look like numbers, when in a number context?

What's the best way to enable warnings?

How can you get more descriptive error warnings?

How can you force yourself to use only declared variables.

What is a sigil?

What happens if you interpolate an unknown scalar value?

How variable names identified for interpolation?

Give the idiomatic way of reading a line of text from the terminal.

In Perl parens are ...

What does `chomp` do?

What is the default value for scalar variables?

Describe it.

Name some numeric equivalences with numeric 0.

What is $/.

undef's string/numeric behavior allows which idioms?

How is the EOF condition represented?

Test for `undef`.

In program text, what is "undef"?