What are the interfaces between levels of a compiler?

What are intermediate representations?

How are they specified?

What is a straight-line program?