How do you exit the `erl` shell?

How does Erlang represent hex and other non-decimal systems?

Is there a global scope?

What is $=$?

How is it evaluated?

Why do reassignable variables make debugging more difficult?

How is arithmetic different in Erlang than in C-like languages?

What are the case rules for atoms?

Atoms can be compared to what in C?

What are two key differences between C
structs and Erlang tuples?

Why aren't atoms garbage collected?

How is an unsuccessful pattern match different in Erlang and Prolog?

What is _?

What makes Erlang's | syntax more powerful than standard cons?

Name an easy way to get the ascii value of a character known at program-write time.